The first part of the document is a letter from the President of the United States to the Congress, dated January 3, 1862. The letter is signed by Abraham Lincoln and is addressed to the Senate and House of Representatives. The letter discusses the state of the Union and the progress of the war against the Confederacy. It also mentions the President's efforts to maintain the Union and his commitment to the principles of liberty and justice for all.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry must be supported by proper documentation, such as receipts or invoices. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data. The second part of the document provides a detailed breakdown of the financial data for the quarter. It includes a table showing the various components of the total revenue, such as sales, interest, and other income. The table is organized into columns for each category, and the rows show the data for each month. The final part of the document concludes with a summary of the overall performance and a statement of the total net income for the period.

Two of three manuscript stories written in a late seventeenth century hand, and bound in a volume now at Baylor university. The first, relating to Mascambruni, was written by the Abbate Giovanni Battista Rinalducci, the second, an anonymous manuscript, is an imaginary conversation between Marquis Francesco Azzolini and Gio Lodovico Francia. The third, translated by E. H. Yarrill under title, Deplorable and impious homicide committed by Guido Franceschini against Pietro Comparini, Violante Comparini and Pompilia their accredited daughter, was published as series 11, of Baylor university's Browning interests, 1939.
